

November 29 2022

"It is our collective responsibility to engage with community to better understand the needs and broaden our scope of services to address needs post-pandemic."

PAMELA CHARLONG,

Executive Director, Centre Walgwan Center

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CENTRE WALGWAN CENTER BUILDS ON OPPORTUNITY OF INNOVATION OF SERVICES AND DELIVERY

Innovation initiatives will enhance the scope of services in addressing community needs from a strength-based perspective

Gesgapegiag, QC - Centre Walgwan Center announced today that they will be suspending residential services in January 2023 to June 2023. Since the pandemic, new realities have surfaced within communities and we must take the time to engage with communities to better understand their needs and modify services accordingly to meet these needs.

"We are excited to expand our services and build on our relationships with Indigenous communities. Our collaboration will reinforce a continuum of care while increasing our value around hope, meaning, purpose and belonging."

Melanie Napartuk, President

ABOUT CENTRE WALGWAN CENTER

Walgwan is geared towards First Nation youth between 12-17 years old who wish to take charge of their wellness and restore hope, meaning, purpose and belonging as they navigate through life's challenges. For more information, please visit our website www.walgwan.com or contact our outreach at 418-759-3006 ext: 224

